I am a natural documentary style wedding photographer. I am dedicated to capturing 'your story' in a relaxed and natural style, taking time to meet and get to know you beforehand and work with you to create the memories that you want of your special day.

I will personally edit every single photo and will create a private area on my website for your friends and family to view or order prints.
I will arrange to meet with you closer to the wedding to finalise everything and go over the finer details of your special day and any particular shots you might want.
